

MICE trade event, Get Global is proud to announce Executive PA Magazine as an Official Media Partner.

As the leading Australian business management media outlet for senior administration professionals as well as heir leading training and professional development resource Get Global Co-Directors, Gary Bender and Donna Kessler are enthusiastic about the partnership.

“We are thrilled to have Executive PA Media as an official media partner, they provide a platform for our exhibitors to speak directly to these corporate decision makers and influencers for meetings, incentives, conferences and events. It will also help us reach buyers who are looking for international product for their MICE needs to attend the event.”

Coming to Sydney this July, Get Global is the first one-day MICE business platform in Australia dedicated exclusively to outbound product.

To see more about Get Global and find out details for their event held on Friday, 28 July 2017, click here